

A Festival of Your Own

Imagine you are a festival director. Write a letter to festival promoters explaining why they should fund your idea for an amazing festival (be it for music, film, books, comedy, a combination of all these things, or something else entirely).

